

Garie McIntosh

Author, grammar enthusiast, entrepreneur

www.gariemcintosh.com

CONTACT

647-232-5039

garie@gariemcintosh.com

linkedin.com/in/garie-mcintosh-006581155/

34 Lexington Road, Brampton, ON L6P 2B6

CAREER STATEMENT

Storytelling communicator and education strategist with intrinsic goals of earned success and service to others. These goals are achieved through high proficiency in project management and attention to detail. Storytelling skills are used as a form of communication, and enthusiasm for English grammar and linguistics as a strategy for education.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT/EDUCATION

Putting the teaching style of problem-based learning into action by finding a solution to the problem of independent writers/editors having all the necessary tools to help themselves achieve traditional publishing standards.

PUBLICATION/ACCOMPLISHMENT

What's in a Name, a novel; a forthcoming series: The Barred-spiral Trilogy series

EXPERTISE

- Writing and publishing a literary novel.
- Developing teaching and educational methods and unique editing products to help writers and editors.
- Designing own brand as a storytelling communicator and education strategist.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Storytelling communicator, education strategist | March 2016 – present | Sole proprietorship

Development and execution of the following:

- Methods, theories and standards of own editing practice.
- Customized search parameters for editing.
- Educational and grammatical modules that help perform grammatical editing.
- An educational and grammatical business for manuscripts.

CORE QUALIFICATIONS

Utilization of problem-based learning to create a continuing education strategy. Transferable skills have resulted in the following areas:

- Typography/typesetting and orthography
- Social media
- Website development
- Grammatical editing
- English grammar and linguistics
- Narratology
- Print book and eBook publishing